

One Killed and Ten Are Injured in Accidents

held in this section. Hundreds of automobiles began to arrive at the hill early Saturday evening, and by 9 o'clock it was estimated that fully 25,000 persons had given the password and passed within the enclosure, scores of them women. The place was brilliantly illuminated, and after a large class had been initiated, Dr. Evans delivered an address. Several thousand of the klansmen were then formed into line, and marched down toward the village.

The greatest excitement had marked the entire evening in Carnegie. The commanding position of the hill on which the klans had gathered had aroused the entire countryside, and thousands of persons had poured in. They lined the principal streets, and waited for hours for the parade to start. The greatest assemblage was held on the line of march passed over Charters creek, and just before the head of the parade reached that point an automobile was drawn up across the bridge.

Policemen Ordered Halt.
As the klansmen wound down off the hill, preceded by an automobile carrying three men and a woman, Carnegie policemen on the bridge ordered them to halt, saying the parade could not go any further, as no permit had been given.

The klansmen appeared at a loss just how to proceed, when suddenly the fighting began. Someone tossed a bottle and then a few stones, and in spite of the efforts of the police to restore order the crowds surged into the streets. An American flag was torn from the leading automobile and klansmen's ranks broke as they rushed forward. They fought their way on each side of the machine, and down the street. There was a desultory shot or two, the combatants confining themselves to bottles, bricks and stones.

Detective Recovers Flag.
A county detective in the crowd made his way to the front and recovered the flag and the fight swept by him. Half a block further on, Abbott, a mine machinist, was shot and klansmen quickly carried him into a physicians office nearby. He died on the operating table.

Meanwhile a carty of klansmen had swept around the block through side streets and encircled the crowd further in toward the business center. Four of their number were carried into a butcher shop, where their wounds were attended by a doctor, and they were then hurried away by their friends. Many similar instances were reported to the authorities.

The greater number of klansmen had remained in the road near the bridge, watching the fighting in the street beyond. County officers pleaded with them to go back to the hill, and in the course of half an hour the order was given and they marched away. Soon they were in their automobiles, however bound and before daybreak the hill was deserted, while the crowds in the streets gradually melted away.

County officers patrolled Carnegie today, but the streets were almost deserted until late in the afternoon, when it was seen that men were again gathering on the hill. Then little knots of citizens appeared, but there was no disorder.

DR. EVANS ISSUES OFFICIAL STATEMENT.

Pittsburg, Pa., August 26.—Dr. Evans characterized his statement issued tonight as "an official statement to the people of the United States concerning the murder of Klansman Abbott during a riot when parading klansmen were attacked by residents of Carnegie, Pa., Saturday night."

The statement follows:
"The action of the mob of Carnegie residents senses of anarchy. The klansmen of western Pennsylvania gathering on a hillside overlooking Carnegie early in the evening, and following the initiation of one thousand men into the order, paraded in the direction of the town. They were halted at a bridge separating Glendale from Carnegie by trucks and other vehicles barring the road. Missiles of every description were thrown at the klansmen. Fence railings, bricks, stones, coal, in fact every object that could possibly make the law-abiding klansmen were hurled at them.

Klansmen Advance.
"In an effort to prevent their constitutional right of peaceful assembly being abridged by an element of citizens absolutely dangerous to the safety and cause of freedom, the klansmen moved forward to square where the attacking forces made ready for their coming with a bulwark of paving stones and bricks. A shower of these missiles fell on the klansmen, the civilians began firing from a dark side street and Klansman Abbott fell mortally wounded. The klansmen in response with a request for assistance deputy sheriffs went back to the meeting place on the hillside, then returned to their homes. Klansman Abbott was killed because he exercised his constitutionally guaranteed right of peaceful assembly, free speech and free movement over the highways of our country. We are determined to this and all other parts of our great land shall be made safe for native born Americans and that every right given in the constitution made by our forefathers shall be preserved to us and to our country."

Dr. Evans also stated that the klans would pay a reward of twenty-five hundred dollars for the arrest and conviction of the murderer or murderers of Klansman Abbott.

in a nearby drug store went home with her father, who requested Patrolmen George Cole and B. A. Taylor not to make any charges against Lee.

Dies of Injuries.

A. D. Daniels, 27, of Tallapoosa, who with L. H. Treadaway, of the same town, was injured in the automobile collision just before midnight Saturday while en route to Atlanta from Austell, died Sunday afternoon at 4 p. m.

Daniels and Treadaway left Tallapoosa about 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon in the latter's automobile for Atlanta. They had just passed Austell, Treadaway stated, when a high-powered machine, going in the same direction, ran into them from the rear, causing their auto to overturn.

The injured men were picked up by a passing motorist and carried first to the Davis-Fischer hospital, being later transferred in the Grady hospital ambulance.

Head Skull Fractured.
Surgeons stated that Daniels had a fractured skull, besides internal injuries. Treadaway escaped with minor cuts and bruises.

Daniels' body was removed to the chapel of Barclay and Brandon and was carried to Tallapoosa at 11 o'clock Sunday night for funeral services and burial.

Besides his widow, three small children, his mother, Mrs. Mary Denny, and three brothers, Oscar, Sam and Anderson Daniels, all of Tallapoosa, survive him.

Church Services Disturbed.
Police Officers C. E. Ford and Henry Donohoe docketed charges of drunkenness and of operating an automobile while under the influence of whiskey against E. M. Brown, 247 South Pryor street, Sunday night.

Brown, according to the officers, drove his car into two automobiles parked in front of a church at the corner of Whitehall street and Whitehall terrace Sunday night, resulting in so much noise that services in the church were halted and hurried calls made for policemen.

The two cars damaged by Brown's automobile were owned by Miss Pearl Blair, 12 Westwood avenue, and Charles A. Dollar, business address at 44 South Pryor street. All three cars were badly damaged.

placed upon their power to act. John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, will not be present, and Philip Murray, its vice president, and Rinaldo Cappellini, C. J. Golden and Thomas Kennedy, the three anti-trust district presidents, will arrive in Harrisburg only in time to enter the session.

Lewis to Get Last Word.
Observers of the union's proceedings consider that the call for a work suspension now but will not be withdrawn until Mr. Lewis personally has passed upon any settlement proposals.

Spokesmen for the union insist that a proposition made by Mr. Lewis to the United States coal commission in New York ten days ago, under which the miners would be allowed to work if the operators would install the "check-off" for collecting union dues, abolish all but eight-hour working places in their service and agree in principle to make a wage increase, is the minimum which the organization can take. It was also said that the shutdown of some mines September 1 could not now be avoided, even if Governor Pinchot tomorrow win the leaders over to a postponement.

Properly certified orders recalling the suspension notices could not be got out in time, union officers said, to reach all the scattered mining camps before the date.

OFFICIAL WASHINGTON OPTIMISTIC OF RESULT.

Washington, August 26.—Professing confidence in the outcome, official Washington awaits the opening tomorrow of the conference at Harrisburg called by Governor Pinchot to seek a settlement of the controversy which threatens to shut down the anthracite mines September 1. The Pennsylvania executive will have no aid in the form of data gathered by federal fuel agencies, administration spokesmen declare, but will have the moral support of the federal government if he finds it necessary to impose a stronger argument than the logical aspects of the situation demand.

Reiteration by representatives of both operators and miners that nothing had occurred to change the decisions expressed at earlier parleys has failed to shake the optimistic view taken by President Coolidge and his advisers. While the refusal of miners to submit the issues to arbitration and the equally flat declaration of operators to agree to the demand for increased wages submitted by the employee group seemed to constitute a deadlock, the white house and coal commission cling to the belief that Governor Pinchot would be able to force an equitable compromise.

Ready for Emergency.
Acting upon instructions from President Coolidge that every aid be given to the coal commission in its preparation for the conference, two members of the staff of the coal commission who were instrumental in preparing the recently published report on production costs will be present. In the event the threatened anthracite shutdown becomes fact, the government will have ready a comprehensive program for dealing with the "national emergency" which it has declared would result. Existing stocks of fuel substitutes have been listed, routes for transporting them designated and a system of priorities over distribution of these supplies to in-

ARMY OF MARINES READY TO INVAD

Quantico, Va., August 26.—The marine corps base tonight assumed the appearance of an armed camp on the eve of embarking on an extended battle campaign.

Five thousand marines, constituting the marine corps of the United States, mobilized, light and heavy artillery are quartered in parks, under tarpaulins, tanks, trench mortar, anti-aircraft and machine gun companies, signal detachments, searchlights and all other material essential to a complete modern outfit prepared for battle, are ready to begin tomorrow morning a march of approximately 300 miles into Shenandoah valley, Virginia, for a campaign of field exercises and maneuvers, and to reenact historic Civil War battles.

The long trek is scheduled to be covered in 21 days, marching at the rate of a little less than 15 miles a day. Sixteen days, according to the program, will be taken up in actual battle maneuvers. The expedition will bring its bag and strenuous program to an end on September 21 at New Market with a portrayal of the Civil War battle of that name. In this "engagement" the Quantico force, which will be known as the "federal side," will oppose the orders of the Virginia Military academy, who will represent the "southern defenders."

A sport feature of the march will be a football game with V. M. I. at Lexington.

Lafayette Day And Marne Date Come Same Time

New York, August 26.—President Coolidge, in a letter to the Lafayette day committee, called for a celebration on September 6 of Lafayette day and the anniversary of the Battle of the Marne.

The letter, made public by the committee tonight, reads:

"The jointure in the national celebration of Lafayette day and the anniversary of the Battle of the Marne is a particularly appealing and suggestive arrangement. Each event represents a milestone in the progress of freedom of the world, and it seems more than a striking coincidence that they should have fallen on the same day, though more than a century and a half apart. I am glad to know that there is prospect of an unusually widespread observance of this double anniversary this year."

The committee is bringing the president's message to the attention of governors and mayors of patriotic organizations, whose cooperation has been invited.

Poincaré, "would not have fared better than France."

Could Not Stay President.

"On the other side of the Atlantic," he said, "the United States momentarily, perhaps, would have been shielded from the consequences of a German victory; but they could not long have remained indifferent to the creation of a colossal power which had become the real sovereign of Europe and ready to throw its tentacles around the globe, for civilization would have been shaken and Germany would have gained political, commercial and intellectual supremacy from pole to pole and become under the Hohenzollerns emperor of the human race."

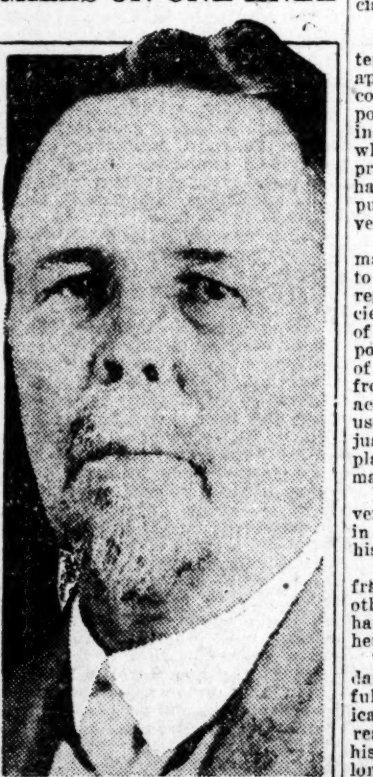

These, said the premier, did not constitute "dreams of strange, morose suppositions" for they several times threatened to become realities.

Therefore, he declared, "have we not the right today to remember our responsibilities for they several times threatened to become realities."

Harding's Legacy to Press Is Plea to End All Wars

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

New York, August 26.—A letter from Warren G. Harding, written June 15, asking American newspaper editors to use their power to end war, was described tonight as the "legacy of a newspaperman-president to the press of his country," was made public tonight by Walter Wellman, journalist and author.

In this letter, sent through Mr. Wellman to the editors of American newspapers, Mr. Harding sounded the same note he struck when, gazing with misty eyes on the castrated American dead borne back from the battlefields of Europe, he exclaimed: "I am informed," wrote Mr. Harding to his fellow editors, "that some of you are considering a plan to use the power of the great American newspaper press to ascertain the opinions of the people upon the problem of America's duty in world reorganization for the abolition of war, the reign of international law, with tribunals instead of battlefields as courts of last resort, and the creation of a system of international cooperation without super-government or encroachment upon the independence of any nation, designed permanently to preserve peace, neighborly relationships, economic stability and prosperity among all the peoples of the world."

America's International Duty.
"That this plan to end American opinion is to be participated in by newspapers of all sections of the country, without regard to political affiliation, and that no partisan post of any sort is to be sought by it, that the various vital phases of the problem are to be carefully and impartially presented to the public in aid in forming their judgment, appeals to me strongly. I have long since become convinced that the United States should not enter the much discussed league of nations, but conviction has not destroyed the hope that there may be found a way to end association and attending world misunderstanding."

"With this plan to set the American people thinking more strongly and clearly and expressing their conclusions in a national referendum, this is a problem which the United States must soon meet with earnestness and courage and it will be of great help to the government if it proceeds towards a practical solution of the problem to have a definite formation of public opinion to build and rely upon. I further believe that in this great task of helping to make the world safe for humanity, no political party should seek selfish advantage, that here should apply our aid and moral support to the party rivalries stop at the edge of the high seas. Hence I shall be glad if the American press, ignoring partisanship, uses its great power to draw forth the best thought, heart and soul of our people. In such a crystallization will be read the decision of the people."

Appeal to Conscience of People.
In making public the foregoing letter, which he described as an urgent appeal to newspapers of all parties to conduct a nation-wide, non-partisan popular referendum as to America's international duty, the details of which he had discussed with the late president, Mr. Wellman asserted that had Mr. Harding lived, "his plans and purposes he himself would have revealed when ready."

"But now," continued Mr. Wellman, "it is plainly my duty to him, to the people who loved him as a man regardless of their view of his policies, to make known to the public his determination to do all in his power to bring about a higher type of civilization, to banish war, to lift from all peoples the burden and menace of the old but now wand and useless militaristic regime. It is only just to Mr. Harding's fame, to his place in history, that the truth be made public."

Mr. Wellman then told of the conversations he had with Mr. Harding in the white house a few weeks before his death.

"The president spoke to me frankly as one newspaperman to another, and had he lived, all that would have been in confidence. Now it is a heritage which must not be lost."

"He told with feeling of his many days and nights of earnest, prayerful thought on the problem of America's duty, and how he and I at last reached a definite conclusion, that his conscience would not permit him longer to remain inactive, of his belief that the conscience of our people, of his minds were stirred upon this problem, would not countenance persistent isolation and indifference as our national policy."

"Our people have never really thought on this matter," he said, "when they do, really think on it, they will find with all their hearts and souls in the right place."

Then he quoted Theodore Roosevelt's words: "When you once get the American people to think, and think hard—well, you'd better stand from under."

Make World Safe for Humanity.
"Mr. Harding rose to a great height in discussing his plans. He was splendid, noble, in voicing his determination. I wish all the people

Rome, August 26.—Europe's wheat crop is 17 per cent larger than in 1922, according to figures issued by the institute of agriculture.

The gain may be found to be still greater when revised figures from Germany, Jugoslavia and Czechoslovakia are obtainable. Data now on hand from Egypt, Algeria, Morocco and Tunis shows an increase of 66 per cent.

The rye harvest throughout Europe has increased 19 per cent over the 1922 figure, but has declined 8 per cent in India. Barley has increased 7 per cent and oats 10 per cent.

The institute reports that India's cotton crop is normal, but that the Egyptian crop is below the average.

GEORGIA GROWERS OF PEACHES WILL MEET WEDNESDAY

Peach growers are seeking protection of their industry against unfair competition and working for enlargement of the scope of the Georgia fruit exchange to bring about better marketing conditions and wider distribution of its products. The consideration to further these plans is to come up before a meeting of growers of the state, which is to take place in Macon Wednesday, August 29.

An invitation has been sent to more than 1,200 peach growers in the state to be present at this meeting.

Georgia is faced by strong competition in the peach industry, said J. G. Carlisle, secretary-manager of the Georgia fruit exchange, "and a stronger organization is necessary. It is for this reason, primarily, that the exchange is sponsoring the meeting in Macon."

The meeting in Macon will be held at the Dempsey hotel at 10 a. m., and will be presided over by W. B. Hunter, president of the Georgia Fruit Growers.

Years ago she was known as "the girl of the period," but nobody pays any attention to her now because it has come to pass that every period has its girl.—New Orleans States.

COURT OFFICIALS GET COMMISSIONS

Milltown, Ga., August 26.—(Special.)—A. F. Sellars, newly appointed judge of the county court, created by the recent grand jury, has received his commission from Governor Walker and R. M. Be as Careful as Your Doctor

"When the little accident happens—be as careful as your doctor. He always uses sterile gauze, sterile cotton and sterile bandages. In case of accident will you be less careful? Strips of old linen or handkerchiefs—ways germ laden—will not do. Great surgeons and great physicians use Bauer & Black products, because they know they are absolutely sterile."

We sell Bauer & Black dressings because we know you can count on them with the assurance of complete safety. Germ life has been made impossible by a double process of sterilization. Each package is marked sterile.

Your home should always be prepared with Bauer & Black adhesive plaster, absorbent cotton, gauze bandage, and rubber band (best for burns). The costs are small. Be prepared for the little accidents and for intelligent first aid and the doctor comes. Be as careful as your doctor.

BEET SUGAR COST GOES UNDER PROBE

Tariff Commission Orders Investigation to Begin at Grass Roots and Work Up to Top.

Washington, August 26.—The tariff commission has ordered a "comprehensive investigation into the cost of producing sugar beets within the United States." The survey, the commission's announcement today explained, will be separate and distinct from the inquiry being conducted into the cost of producing sugar in Cuba, Hawaii, Porto Rico, Louisiana and of the sugar mills of the west and will be for "purposes of the so-called flexible provisions of the tariff act, of 1922."

The extent that the new study will go into general producing costs from the agricultural standpoint is regarded here as having a direct bearing on existing rates of duty on sugar imports. The commission, however, said that the inquiry was a fact gathering proposition and made no mention of how it intends to use the data obtained or the reason actuating it.

Satisfactory progress has been made, commission members reported, on the previously instituted investigation into sugar producing costs which resulted from charges that the high sugar prices prevailing early in the year were attributable to the tariff duties. The new investigation will go a step further than the one already in progress in that it proposes to delve to the very beginning of sugar production.

Whether the commission against the import rates was not made known, it was ascertained that several members of the commission believed the inquiry already under way should be broadened and made complete with the question of duties and their effect on prices is pending before the commission.

The inquiry announced today calls for a survey of the cost of producing beets in about 30 sugar areas of Michigan, Nebraska, Colorado, Utah and California. Records will be taken from approximately 2,000 farms, or about 15 per cent of the total production of the 30 districts.

TWO GLIDER RECORDS FALL IN ONE FLIGHT

Vauville, France, August 26.—The French aviator, Manoyot, late last evening established two glider records. He covered 12.2 miles on a Peyret motor-aviette, which had a record minimum consumption of .075 cubic centimeters of petrol, and then rose to an altitude of 12,450 feet in 54 minutes, beating Drouhin's altitude record of 3,500 feet.

Big Crowd Hears Celebrated Band At Howard Sunday

A large crowd attended the special concert of the Yaarab Temple Shrine band at the Howard theater Sunday afternoon.

Motion pictures depicting various phases of life at Scottish Rite hospital for Crippled Children, in Atlanta, were shown and short addresses were made by officers of the Shrine.

Potentate Bayne Gibson made the principal address and told the audience of activities throughout the nation of Shrine organizations to emulate the charitable hospital work instituted in Atlanta.

The "Million-Dollar Band," directed by Enrico Leide, noted cellist and director of the Howard, rendered a delightful musical program, its selections being interspersed with cornet solos by John Scharf.

VENIRE ON HAND IN GARRETT CASE

Cumberland Courthouse, Va., Aug. 26.—(By The Associated Press.) The advance guard of the sixty Amherst county citizens summoned here as an outside venire in the Garrett-Pierce murder case was on hand tonight and all were expected by tomorrow morning, when the trial of Robert O. Garrett is resumed before Judge B. D. White in the Cumberland county circuit court.

Only two technical points remain to be cleared away before the work of getting a jury is started and it is generally believed that by the end of the week the case of one, if not both, of the brothers charged with the murder of the Rev. E. S. Pierce, Baptist minister, last June 5, will have been completed. There seemed little doubt that the jury would be obtained tomorrow and the hearing of evidence begun Tuesday.

The first move tomorrow was expected to be a "challenge of the array" by the defense. By this the defense questions the legality of drawing a jury from outside until all possibilities of securing a jury in Cumberland county have been exhausted.

Claim Separate Trial. Counsel contends that no effort has been made to obtain a Cumberland jury to try Robert O. Garrett and that as the defendant is entitled to a trial in the vicinity of the alleged crime, the action of the court in sending first to Amherst for a venire was contrary to law. They claim that the only attempt to get a jury was in the Larkin C. Garrett trial and that, as the state requested a severance, the present trial is a separate and distinct matter.

The second point of law to precede the selection of a jury was that of separate trials for the brothers. When the case was first called last July 20 Judge White granted the motion of the prosecution for separate trials over the protest of the defense. The defense argued then that the men had been indicted jointly and arraigned jointly and for that reason they should have been tried jointly. They are expected to renew this contention when court reconvenes tomorrow.

HOLMES INSTITUTE WILL OPEN IN NEW BUILDING SEPT. 10

The Holmes Institute will open in its new building September 10.

The institution is now in position to accommodate the largest number of students in its history. Capacity of the boarding departments is 150 students; day school 500. Departments: English, normal, theology, stenography, domestic science, music, laundering, tailoring, shoe-making, barbering and hairdressing. Students will be taken in the boarding department from six years up. All girls will be given a course in cooking and dressmaking aside from the regular course.

Accountants Urged To Aid in Proposed State Tax Reforms

Charles E. Robertson, executive secretary of the City Club of Atlanta, addressed the Georgia Society of Certified Public Accountants at its regular monthly meeting at the chamber of commerce Saturday night on the subject, "The Development of North Georgia."

Accountants were urged by Mr. Robertson to step forward and lend a hand in the proposed changes in the tax laws of Georgia on the grounds that men who had made it a life work to analyze business are perhaps more capable than any other body of men in the state to outline an equitable system of taxation.

Acting upon this suggestion the society appointed special committees to study methods of taxation in other states and to report at the September meeting at which a number of the legislators of the state will be guests. Accountants from various parts of the nation were frequently called into consultation by the treasury department at the time of enactment of the federal revenue acts of 1917, 1918 and 1921.

Alonzo Richardson was designated at this meeting to represent the Georgia society at the convention of the American Society of Certified Public Accountants to be held in New York September 13 and 14.

Mark V. Larned, of Respass & Respass, was elected to fellowship in the society.

Rev. Walt Holcomb Coming to Atlanta For Big Revival

Rev. Walt Holcomb, well-known evangelist, has been secured by Dr. B. F. Fraser to do the preaching in a revival at the Wesley Memorial church, which begins Sunday, September 9. At present he is attending an important evangelistic conference at Lake Junaluska, N. C.

Except Sundays, services will be held daily at the church at 10 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. A very attractive musical feature has been arranged and a large chorus choir, chosen from the best singers of the various churches in the city has been employed. This feature is under the direction of Prof. and Mrs. A. C. Bostman.

Personal work will be stressed as a feature of the meeting and the leadership of Rev. Jack Penn and Rev. R. Z. Tyler, who will train classes to carry out the thoroughgoing program of personal service throughout the entire revival campaign of three weeks.

MOUNT ZION CHAPTER INVITES MASTER MASONS

An attractive musical program has been arranged by Mount Zion chapter, Free and Accepted Masons, for "Ladies Night," Monday night, and a general invitation has been extended to all Master Masons and their wives of Atlanta.

The program is under the direction of Sister Emilio Volpi, noted Atlanta teacher of voice and prominent in Masonic circles. A number of his advanced vocal pupils will appear on the program including Rudolph Lehman, baritone.

The Mount Zion quartet, directed by Paul M. Hubbard, will be heard, as will the Elks' Troubadours quartet. Addresses will be made by Judge Thomas H. Jeffries, past high priest, Mount Zion chapter, and Jesse W. Armstrong.

Bartie E. Goodman, high priest, will make the welcome address.

ILL HEALTH BLAMED FOR SUICIDE ATTEMPT

Brooding over her husband's ill health and their poor financial condition, Mrs. T. E. Burnside, 47, of 74 Home avenue, took a quantity of iodine Sunday afternoon in an effort, she told doctors at Grady hospital, to end her life.

Mrs. Burnside told nurses at the hospital that her husband had been ill for a long period and that they were in bad financial circumstances. This made her despondent, she said. Doctors stated her condition is serious.

(At Loew's Grand.) As the featured attraction of the opening of the vaudeville show of the week at Loew's Grand theater, the management has secured Skelly and Hite, in their "Lucky" of 1924, one of the best acts of its kind now playing in vaudeville. Hugh Skelly and four pretty and talented girls are the company, presenting a delightful repertoire of song studies and character delineations. As an eccentric comedian, Hugh Skelly is in a class by himself, and his company are all capable artists.

Novelle brothers, musical clowns, in another feature that promises to be one of the hits of the show. Their entertainment consists of tumbling, acrobatic dancing, violin selections and whistling.

Other acts on the new bill are Gates and Finley, in a comedy skit; Lillian Morton, comedienne, and the Kirkwood Trio, in western pastimes. Featured on the motion picture program is "Ladies and Lovers," with a cast that includes House Peters, Pauline Stark and Antonio Moreno.

MATURITY PROGRAM READY IN TEN DAYS

Washington, August 26.—Announcement by the treasury of its program of financing necessary to take care of September 15 maturities is expected to be made in about ten days. Previous official statement from amount of new funds to be sought will be small, but high officials said today they had not yet determined upon the size of the issue which will be floated under date of September 25.

Reports circulated in financial centers that the treasury contemplated a long term issue have remained unconfirmed to date. Indications have been given, on the contrary, that the certificates to be sold in September may be for a short period.

Officials, however, declined to make definite statements on the time or interest rate that may be expected in the forthcoming issue.

THIEVES ENTER STORE WITHOUT DIFFICULTY

Thieves who raided the store of J. D. Banks, 123 Nelson street, early Sunday morning had little difficulty in getting inside the building, according to Patrolmen Burke and McCrary, who reported to Capt. J. E. Chandler that the window was left open and only the fly screen protected the store from robbers.

Just what was taken by the robbers had not been determined Sunday night. The entire stock of goods was left in disorder by the thieves, who helped themselves bountifully to lunches and soft drinks before taking their departure.

KIWANIANS OPEN ALBANY WHITE CLINIC ON FRIDAY

Albany, Ga., August 26.—(Special.) A free clinic for the white children of Albany, which will be extended later to include the colored children, will be opened Friday afternoon by the Albany Kiwanis club. The civic organization secured quarters and purchased equipment for the clinic. Albany physicians, specialists and dentists have promised to give their services free. A fund was raised to provide things that might be prescribed for the patients, such as medicines, eyeglasses and fillings for teeth. Members of the club will visit the clinic in a body Friday afternoon just before its opening. One reason the initial services were not extended to

BABY'S WELFARE

By Dr. Arthur G. Bretz

Foreword.
Reports from all parts of the country show that thousands of babies die from diseases which are preventable. Therefore, we feel that an extra effort should be put forth to bring before the readers of this paper important information pertaining to the prevention of common ills and the spreading of disease.

Articles appearing in this column are intended especially for those mothers who are so busy with daily household routine that they have not the time to read the many good books published or attend lectures on such subjects. No attempt will be made to prescribe medical or surgical treatment, nor to make a diagnosis of any illness.

The articles appearing in this column have been prepared by a licensed, graduate physician having many years of experience in dealing with the health and growth of the child.

Sleep.
Regular periods of undisturbed sleep are vitally essential to the growing infant. Without sufficient rest the benefits of proper care and feeding are lost. It is preferable for the child to sleep alone. The room should be warm but well ventilated. The mattress should be evenly padded and made of cotton, hair or felt. No pillow is needed but if desired a clean, folded napkin may be placed under the baby's head. To induce sleep the room should be darkened and quiet. Rocking the baby and the use of pacifiers should be avoided. Remember that sleep is a natural habit for the infant, and should be induced in a natural way. Avoid all drugs which are intended to produce sleep, for all of them are very dangerous in the hands of an inexperienced person.

During the warm summer months the baby should be dressed very lightly in order to insure restful sleep. The room should be kept as cool as possible and if conditions are such as to permit the baby sleeping out of doors, it is advisable to have him do so. However, if this is done, some precautions must be taken to protect the child from flies, insects, rain, wind, and sudden drop in temperature. An electric fan is useful to keep baby's room cool, but the fan should not be allowed to blow directly on the child. It should be so placed that the wind will blow in an upward direction, and used simply to keep the air in circulation.

Proper food and feeding have much to do with sleep. If underefed, the baby will be awakened by hunger. If overfed, the disturbed condition in the digestive organs is apt to cause restlessness. A rule, healthy infants should never be awakened except for the purpose of feeding. However, in order to change his soiled clothing it is sometimes necessary to vary this rule. Babies soon learn to awaken at feeding time, and it is not uncommon for the child, after the third month, to sleep continuously the whole night through, with perhaps only one awakening for an evening feeding. At this age the infant should have two or three feedings each during the day, one in the morning and the other in the afternoon. As the child grows older, one may be sufficient, but it is advisable to continue the afternoon nap well along in the child's life, at least until the fifth or sixth year.

If, after you have taken all the precaution necessary to insure comfortable sleep, the baby is still restless, you should consult your family physician, for there may be some disease developing which is the cause of his disturbed rest.

Mock Dishes.
Probably the oldest of all the "mock" dishes was mock turtle soup. This is such a well-known soup and so well liked that no one would think of it now as a sham or imitation. It really doesn't taste like turtle soup. It is good enough in itself. In a very modest recipe for this delicacy nineteen different ingredients are called for, including a calf's head, mushrooms, chopped ham, Madeira wine. Besides it takes all day to make it, with at least four hours' cooking. So in this busy day few housewives would want to attempt it. Next to mock turtle, in point of age comes "mock duck." And this like mock turtle, really bears precious little resemblance to real duck—but unlike mock turtle, it is not so difficult to make. One rule calls for a flank steak, cut rather thin. The steak is spread with a mixture of new and well-seasoned bread mixture and is then tied. Now brown the roll in hot grease, and when brown all over remove to a casserole. Make a gravy from the fat left in the pan, adding tomato juice and seasoning, and pour this over the meat in the casserole and cover with a lid. Bake in the oven for an hour and a half.

There is a mock pork that is made by stuffing a white summer squash with savory bread crumbs and cooking it in the oven, basting it with bacon fat. And a mock beef in a made made arranging layers of bread, sautéed onions and carrots in a casserole, covering with Worcestershire sauce.

There is a mock pate de foie gras made from ordinary bread, livers and a paste and elaborately flavored that might pass for the original. Sometimes real is used with a very little chicken in making a salad that might be called "mock chicken salad," and sometimes a smooth white sauce is added to mayonnaise to make what might be called "mock mayonnaise." The Constitution's Patterns

A SIMPLE, Dainty FROCK.
4480. Flit lace and crepe de Chine are here combined. The model is comfortable and pretty, and may be developed in crepe of two colors, or in batiste with veining and hemstitching for a finish.

The pattern is cut in four sizes: Small, 34-36; medium, 36-40; large, 42-44; extra large, 46-48 inches bust measure. A medium size requires 2 3/4 yards of 32-inch material. For the yokes of contrasting material 1 yard 40 inches wide is required. Pattern mailed to any address on receipt of 10c in silver or stamps.

A SET OF SMART WAIST ACCESSORIES.
4480. This group comprises several attractive collar styles, and a cuff with bands of velvet ribbon, or bandings in a contrasting color. Corded silk tucks, and an elegant band in contrasting material would be effective. No. 3 is good in vogue for firmness it may be interlined with coarse canvas, or the edges may be wired. No. 4 is a pretty "bertha" style, worn low on the shoulders. For firmness it may be interlined with coarse canvas, or the edges may be wired. The pattern is cut in four sizes: Small, medium, large and extra large.

Send 12c in silver or stamps for our up-to-date fall and winter 1923-24 book of fashions.

In ordering patterns write name and address plainly on a sheet of paper. Order by number and inclose price in silver or stamps. Do not mail letter to The Constitution building in Atlanta but address as follows: Fashion Department, The Constitution, 1188-89 Fulton St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

NO LABOR SHORTAGE
Negro Woman Says She Will Stay South.

Lumpkin, Ga., August 26.—(Special.)—During the days of negro migration to the north, it is a noteworthy fact that Stewart county has suffered less than several of the counties in the state from scarcity of labor. There is generally a spirit of helpfulness among the business men in this section towards labor, which is appreciated by the better element of negroes.

In addition, the diversified farming here furnishes employment for the hands throughout the entire year. Lumber business is extensive in this county and opportunity is furnished everyone who desires work.

A negro woman, who went north during the summer returned. On leaving the city, where she visited, she told the negroes that she had to go home to Georgia, that she wanted to live and die on her own home place, that she wanted to sit under the

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Removes Ink Stains.

Equal parts of vinegar and linseed oil applied to ink stains on wool with a soft cloth will effectually efface them.

Good Gravy.
If possible use the water from your potatoes when making gravy from fried or roasted meats. It will add more flavor.

For White Shades.
Try cleaning white linen shades with equal parts of flour and baking. Lay the shade out flat and rub the dry mixture on with a cloth.

Small Pans for Success.
Never use a large pan for omelet or the eggs will spread and the omelet become thin and tough. A small deep pan is ideal if you are not fortunate enough to own a regular omelet pan.

Think Before Buying.
It is not wise to lay in large quantities of cereals, raisins, spaghetti and other rice-attracting foods. Stores are so handy to most of us nowadays that we have been in the habit of buying these things in bulk are not worth the worry we have in keeping away mice and bugs.

HANCOCK COUNTY PLANS BIG FAIR

Sparta, Ga., August 26.—(Special.)—Plans are being made by the officers and directors to hold the biggest and best county fair here this fall that has ever been known in the history of the county. Farmers are in much better spirits over a fair crop yield, and will exhibit much produce during the fair week. Officials of the fair association are planning to erect a large exhibit building, which will house all the exhibits, on the fair grounds. The stock exhibit will occupy different quarters from the agricultural exhibits as heretofore. An excellent carnival company will furnish amusements for the midway.

Britain Prepares To Levy Tariff On Crude Rubber

Washington, August 26.—The British government is planning an import tax from the United States. Sir Joseph Austen Chamberlain said in a statement issued here.

With a grip on production of crude rubber and with a contemplated program to levy an import tax on the finished product, "England places American manufacturers at a great disadvantage," Firestone said. He credits the recent decline in rubber prices partly to fear among British rubber growers of arousing too strong public sentiment in the United States against the recent legislation in England restricting production and exportation from its Far Eastern colonies.

TURNER COUNTY PLAN FEATURES MEETING

Lumpkin, Ga., August 26.—(Special.)—A meeting of considerable interest to the farmers and business men of this county was held in the courthouse in Lumpkin yesterday. Diversified farming or the "Turner county plan" was discussed. This plan also includes the raising of purebred stock, best varieties of poultry, and the raising of hogs. The plan has heretofore been cultivated. The matter of forming an association which might handle the marketing of all farm products was discussed.

Quite a number of Stewart county farmers have visited Turner county recently. Several of these spoke in favor of the plan, and the method followed there and recommended that the same methods be followed in this county.

One hundred and twenty Stewart county farmers were present at the meeting, and a temporary board of directors was appointed by the chairman of the meeting, each member to be a representative of a different farmer in his immediate section. It is the purpose of the board to urge others to become members of the association, which it is their purpose to organize at an early date.

During the meeting Professor Hall, superintendent of the county schools, who is extensively engaged in dairying and poultry raising, made an address.

50 Firemen Overcome

New York, August 26.—Between 50 and 60 firemen, including Deputy Chief James W. Heffernan, were overcome while fighting a stubborn all-day blaze at the Towers warehouse on West and Canal streets today. All firemen were ordered out of the building tonight because of its weakened condition.

Squirrels That Fly, Red Fox, and Beige Ermine, Come to the Fore of Feminine Fashion's Stage.

Flying squirrel has come into an important place as a trimming fur for both for frocks and coats of cloth and as collars and cuffs for wraps of other peltry. Hare and Astrakhan are other furs the French dress-makers are using in considerable ked fur is still smart; one of the most attractive ideas thus far offered for autumn is the black velvet gown trimmed with red fox collar, cuffs and bandings. Mink has also found a place as a trimming fur and sable is certainly not in the discard. Ordinary squirrel, as well as the flying variety, makes a good trimming fur and has been used effectively in one instance to form ten bands around a circular skirt—slightly tilted up at the left side. The sleeves show five bands of the squirrel going round about the flaring lower half.

There seems to be just two prevalent sorts of fur-trimmed sleeves on frocks and wraps—sleeves that gradually flare from a tight shoulder to a wide cuff trimmed with a wide band of fur, or sleeves that are snug from shoulder to wrist, in which case the fur is applied as a wide deep cuff of almost muff-like proportions. Occasionally there is a frock with short sleeves ending above the elbow edged with a wide band of fur. The fur trimmings are almost always of a wide band of fur around the hem or around the edge of a long tunic. Occasionally both skirt and tunic are edged with the wide banding, sometimes only the front of the tunic is fur trimmed, carrying out the idea of the season to confine trimming to the front.

Coat frocks and other frocks designed to be worn outdoors without a wrap show fur collars, sometimes edged with wide banding, right up around the ears, and sometimes flat neck.

An oddity among the new evening frocks is one with a fur collar of white fox. Afternoon and evening lace flounces edged with narrow bands of long fur.

Sometimes an effort is made to use fur as nearly matching the color of the fabric from which the frock is made as possible. Black fur on black fabric, platinum on gray, red fox and mink on reddish brown was the rule followed in the work of some dressmakers. But this use of fur is not very effective, and sometimes a better effect can be gained by black velvet trimmed with red fox, and similar contrasts. However, when two furs are used together, the best effects are gained when the pelts are dyed to match or to make a close harmony. Thus white fox collars appear on white ermine and beige ermine appears with beige fox edged slightly darker. Slate caracul has slate colored fox collar.

Bureau of Standards Completes Big Lens Of Domestic Glass

Washington, August 26.—The largest lens ever successfully constructed from domestic manufactured glass have been completed by the bureau of standards. Declared by expert examiners to be perfect, the measure 12 inches in diameter and have a focal length of 12 feet 8 inches.

An unusual feature of the completed work is that it forms what is known as an "achromatic combination." Use of crown glass in one lens and flint glass in the other is said to bring light of all colors to a common focal point, impossible in lenses made of one type of glass. The instrument will be used by the bureau for conducting intricate experiments in the science of optics.

CHARGES PREFERRED AGAINST YOUNG MEN

L. C. Tuttle, 26, and B. L. Clayton, 24, both of 50 Killebrew street, were jailed Sunday night as the result of a fight they are said to have staged in the home.

Clayton is charged with disorderly conduct and Tuttle with assault. They were severely cut across the forehead, was locked up under a disorderly conduct charge after his wound had been dressed at Grady hospital. Call officers W. A. Goode and W. E. Bullard, who investigated the fight, say that they were told that Clayton was drinking.

More Lumber Offices.

Sparta, Ga., August 26.—(Special.)—Work & Hamilton Lumber company, located in Sparta and one of the largest concerns doing business in this section of the state, is planning to move the company's offices to Sparta, Ga., where they have large timber interests. Several of the officers will leave early next month, but the entire force will not move until January 1.

They said their planing mill some months ago to the Maxwell Lumber company, who now are operating the plant here and another one at Glenford, a small station four miles from here on the Georgia railroad.

The removal of this concern is occasioned by the shortage of timber contracts. The Sparta Lumber company, another large lumber concern here, will continue to operate on contracts they have which will cover several years.

CHAPTER LXI.
The Chase.
Gloria found Larry waiting for her when she came downstairs a few moments later. She seated herself beside him in the automobile that he had borrowed, and they swung into the stream of cars that flowed steadily up Fifth avenue.

The afternoon papers lay in a heap beside her, and she picked one up and glanced over its front page, where the story of the kidnapping of the Brewer baby was featured. Several theories were advanced, but always the blame was laid at the door of Phillip Brewer's wife. It seemed clear that her confederates had taken the child.

The other papers were also full of the story. Brewer had offered a huge reward for the return of the child, and a smaller one for news leading to its return. Gloria felt guilty as she realized that she might have relieved the anxiety of the distracted man.

"But Valerie might—something might happen to the baby if anyone Valerie didn't know went after it," she told herself, "and I'm sure that we there were several men who wanted her to marry him—men with lots of money. She was quite fond of one of them. But she wouldn't do it. There was some mystery about her. But I like her so much, Larry—I can't help believing in her, no matter what she's doing."

He smiled down at her; she seemed very young to him just then, and her loyalty to her friend made her very lovable.

"This must be the big deal that she always wanted to pull off," Gloria went on. "She talked to me once about her financial affairs, when she was awfully worried, I think, and just had to talk to some one. She said then that if she could only put over one big thing she would be loaded with money, she'd be all right. I know that when men gave her jewels she used to tell them; she made money every way she could. I wonder why."

Larry looked at her without speaking. He was wondering, too—wondering, as he often had, how it happened that a girl like Gloria could be associated with a woman of Mrs. Eaton's type and remain so untouched by the scheming and plotting that went on around her. He was as much in the dark as Gloria was about Valerie Eaton's need of money. He felt sure of Mrs. Eaton's character. She had not tried to persuade Gloria not to stay with her any longer.

He knew that Gloria did not realize she was walking on thin ice; her life had been lived so far from all guile that it would not occur to her that those who did not know Valerie Eaton would attribute to the charming widow actions of which she was not guilty. He knew Mrs. Eaton for what she was—a clever adventuress, who played her cards with unerring skill, and was as game a loser when the odds went against her.

He looked at Gloria, thinking that he had never seen her look lovelier.
